

Family photo shoot

As my professional life has taken root, my personal life has also flourished. I met my wife in 2012, and it did not take long before I knew she was the woman I wanted to marry. We started to build our family together, and we now have four beautiful children. My life is overflowing with love, and I am incredibly motivated to provide the best life possible for my family.

My business is called Mississauga Decks and Trim, and strong values and quality work will guide us in all that we do. We believe in honesty and transparency, clear communication, and exceeding our clients' expectation. My personal belief will always be to offer the best service and the highest quality product that the client deserves, and that belief will be demonstrated through every piece of wood we touch.

Track day in my favourite sports car